Intoxication is a Blood Alcohol Content (BAC) .08 % or more. A BAC of .08 percent or higher is evidence of intoxication, and a BAC of .18 percent or more is evidence of aggravated driving while intoxicated. A person can become intoxicated by consuming alcohol.

Impaired is the effect of any drug on your body that makes you unable to use proper judgment to drive a vehicle. The drug could be alcohol, prescription or non-prescription drugs. A Blood Alcohol Content (BAC) of more than .05 percent is legal evidence that you are impaired.

Sober is not being under the influence of any drug or alcohol. A sober driver is someone who has not had any alcohol or drugs and is licensed and competent to drive a motor vehicle.

Make A Plan

Sober Licensed Driver:

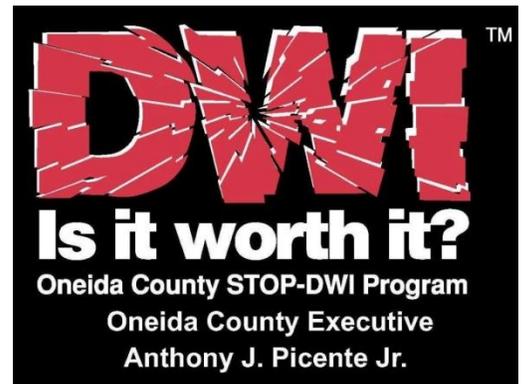

- Always ride with a sober licensed driver, a driver who has not been drinking alcoholic beverages or who is not impaired by drugs.
- If celebrations involve alcohol make a plan before going as to who will be the sober licensed driver.
- Be a good friend and ask if you think someone is intoxicated or impaired. Help find a sober licensed driver ride or call a taxi for a safe ride. Do not let them drive.
- Children must always ride with a sober licensed driver. Make a plan to protect children from intoxicated or impaired drivers.
- Intoxicated or impaired drivers with children under 16 in the car can be prosecuted under Leandra's Law, a felony.
